

CIO Views Magazine Names Sapien Software as One of the Ten Most Innovative Companies of 2025

Innovative Full Service Solution Will Challenge in the Global Market

Austin, TX – August 7, 2025: Sapien Software LLC, the rapidly customizable HR solution built and priced for global companies, has been named by CIO Views Magazine as one of the ten most innovative companies to watch in 2025. This designation reflects the power that the editors of CIO Views see in the Sapien platform, and the vision that the company has already shown in planning for the way in which companies work now, and how they will work in the future.

Focused on global midmarket and larger organizations, Sapien has already proven its expertise in handling companies in transition, whether from divestiture, merger, or their own organic growth and expansion. And its vision for tomorrow is what led the editors of CIO Views to see Sapien as being at the intersection of positive disruption and purposeful innovation.

“This is the first time we’ve seen a significant, full-service global HR technology entry in probably a decade,” said Mousmi Naidu, Managing Editor of CIO Views. She added, “We truly believe that Sapien is the next generation in global HR technology and will be a major alternative to the three largest global solutions for companies of all sizes, for divestitures, and an ideal replacement platform for the installed legacy solutions that are still operating but that struggle to remain relevant in today’s business environment.”

Built and priced for the global market, and with integrated Agentic AI, Natural Language Processing, and fully managed services included in every contract, Sapien makes it easy for companies to adopt the solution and/or to switch from their existing solution with minimal disruption.

According to Ryan Tweedie, Sapien CEO and Managing Member, it's gratifying to have others see what we know to be true about the industry and about Sapien in particular. "Having been in this industry for my entire career, I know that product performance is a given, but what takes a platform from good to great is its ability to provide on-time and on-budget delivery, ongoing innovation and user insights, and the strategic tools to future-proof a workforce against evolving business demands." He adds, "That's what we set out to do with Sapien, and that message seems to be resonating based on the reaction of the industry."
